Personalities

Nineteen fifty nine . . . what is it? It's more than just a school year or a passage of time. It's a step forward in our growth from being children to being capable of leading the citizens of tomorrow and shaping the destiny of the world.

The ALBROKAN of 1959 will bring the realization of meeting new people . . . the memories of old friends—the gaiety . . . the sadness . . . and the companionship of the post school year and how it affected each individual.

We gaze into the future with alert minds, having the determination of our plans and dreams to be accomplished.

If we, the ALBROKAN Staff, have succeeded in bringing to you these purposes and have created a silhouette of your high school life, then our efforts will not have been wasted.

Riddle jumps to secure ball during Landis game.

Yes, it really is spirit that makes Brown High what it is. It's the spirit as displayed at football and basketball games. Yet, it is much more than that.

It's spirit as shown when any number of students participate in any school activity no matter how important or insignificant. It's spirit when we wear green and white on Fridays; it's spirit as we all stand and sing our school song in assembly.

Truly it is the spirit at Brown that gives each individual a sense of school loyalty and causes all to uphold the school's reputation and to strive to make it the best school in the nation.

knowledge...

Knowledge is that which makes Brown High one of the best schools in the state. It's knowledge that gives us our sense of security and stability. It's knowledge when we meet in class and discuss important matters. It's knowledge that makes each student at Brown do his best to further his own capacity to understand.

Students enrich their capacity for learning.

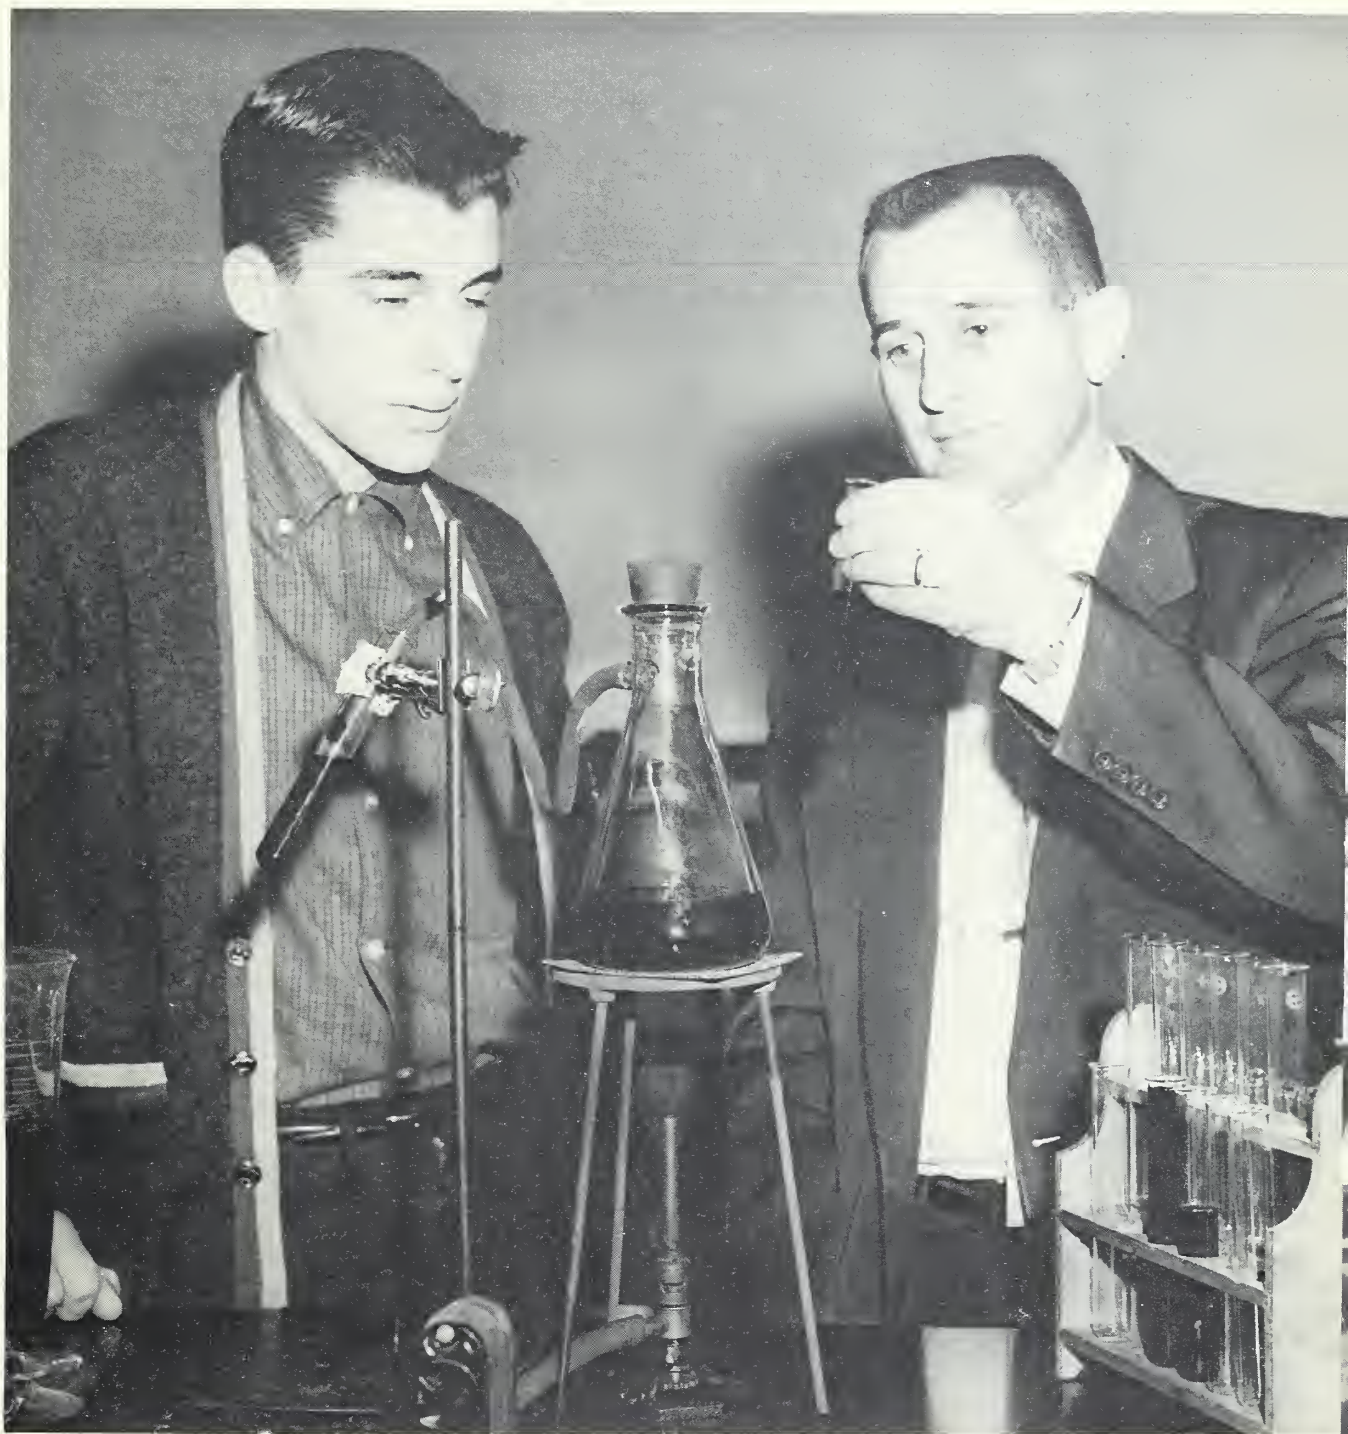

Seniors meet to elect outstanding members.

Faculty takes time out from busy schedule.

The Dramatics Department, under the influence of Miss Nancetta Hudson, has achieved many outstanding accomplishments during the 1958-59 school year. The sixteen students shown in the picture are presenting their finished projects and props for "A Night of Shakespeare" which was presented on March 17.

Miss Mary Wilburn, librarian of the high school, assists the students with their studies. A popular library, it has received widespread recognition over the state. In the late winter, some of the outstanding pictures of the library were shown on several television programs throughout the Carolinas.

The Monitorial System helps to reduce congestion and traffic in the hallways. Under the advisorship of Mrs. Sara Hamrick, the organization carries out many duties concerning rules and regulations of "hall etiquette."

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Ronnie Glosson, Vice-President; Eric McKnight, President; Alan McKnight, Treasurer; Shelia Argo, Secretary.

Our Senior Year... the realization of

As the seniors reach the last step in their high school career, they pause to glance over their shoulders to recall the past three short years. They recall the awe upon entering the cosmopolitan world of senior high, the lingering pride of the bond, football games, the publications, programs, and each of the individuals that make these years so wonderfully special.

Seniors remember bisecting their first frogs, the excitement of elections, the joy of being a part of living democracy, and the singing of the school song for the first and last time. They remember championship football and basketball teams, that heart-breaking game in which we lost the victory bell, and again the glorious game in which we won it back.

More than anything, they remember the spirit that is a senior, that intangible something that puts every student on the same team, working in all ways to make our school the best.

Now they must continue their upward climb. They must entrust their school to the eager hands of the underclassmen. The actions of this class will be remembered for they have added a strong and rich chapter to the never ending story of A. L. Brown High School.

SENIOR DRAMA

BY RITA NOEL

A dimly lit auditorium—
Halls, echoing gay laughter;
Cheerleaders, leading yells at a football game;
The musty, yet familiar atmosphere of a classroom—
The stage is set for the directing . . .

The individual is the primary goal—
To establish his personality and character,
To guide his choice of a role in life,
To instill in him wholesome attitudes and values.

The direction shines through the actors . . .

Enter, students, to a carefree life.
Homecoming, plays, and Junior-Seniors,
Washington, athletics, and club meetings;
But also homework, tests, and exams.
The scenes are set for the acting . . .

With "will to do, courage to dare,"
We enact the daily routine.
The friends we make, the ring we wear,
Complete our acting team.
Yet the actions within themselves are lacking . . .

The purpose is the effect that lingers
As the last curtain-call fades—
With diploma in hand, and farewells breathed,
We whisper "good-bye" to Brown, the setting;
"good-bye" to teachers, the directors;
"good-bye" to activities, the scenes;
"good-bye" to classmates, our fellow-actors.

And yet we know we cannot completely part—
The memories, training, and experience
Have prepared us so
That we cannot forget

This, our SENIOR DRAMA

CLASS HISTORY

Looking back now, we remember many things about this high school we are leaving. Some things have grown dim in our minds, and time has faded many of their colors, but still the memories persist.

As we make this last trip through the familiar doors of Brown High, we turn and look, for the last time, at the long corridors. Our hearts are heavy now, and they swell with memories of things we did here. We stand here for a long time, realizing that this is final. Never again can we stand in the hallowed corridors of our Alma Mater, being a part of them. The days we spent here are gone. They seem to have flashed by with a great swiftness that we hardly noticed. But these days are still ours, for each of them will live itself anew countless times in our memories.

As we reflect, we remember the time when the uncertainty, we, as sophomores, entered these long corridors for the first time, and times when upper classmen in their dignity occasionally stooped to help us when their encouragement and inspiration we needed.

When that first year is recalled, things are brought to mind: the difficult tasks accomplished, the realization of responsibility's meaning, and duty well executed. Leading us through this first uncertain year were sound leaders of exceptional ability. Under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Query, our class advisor, we began the task of selecting our leaders for our sophomore year.

Having shown leadership ability in years previous, Don Cagle was elected president of the class. He served well with Ronnie Glosson under him as vice-president; Beverly Maulden and Ronnie Hampton were elected to the positions of secretary and treasurer, respectively. Selected to be our class representatives in the Council, Shelia Argo and Eddie Tyson worked for the betterment of the school through Student Government. With these staunch citizens as our leaders, we began our work as a body. The Class of 1959 thus became an organization in the true sense of the word, a large family united with a common purpose and common ideals. For the work that would be done during the year, we adopted the sale of jelly as a project to provide funds for class activities.

Many students made the year one of achievement. In recognition of outstanding achievement in the fields of scholarship, character, leadership, and service, four members of our class were honored by being tapped into the National Honor Society. They were Shelia Argo, Rita Noel, Beverly Maulden, and Eddie Tyson. The service organization for boys, the Key Club, accepted for membership Eddie Tyson, Don Cagle, Ronnie Hampton, and Bill and Phil Clement.

With the year drawing to a close, Eddie Tyson and Beverly Maulden were elected by the student body to the offices of Secretary and Treasurer, respectively of the Student Government. Elected as cheerleaders for the coming year were Johnny Barlow, Don Slaughter, and Eddie Tysan.

This year, our first at Brown, was a year of achievement and a year of responsibility. The year seemed to fly, and as we had entered the year a bit uncertain of our surroundings, we ended it confident that the year had proved us worthy of a place in the annals of Brown High School.

On returning in the fall of 1957, we found ourselves becoming fond of the place, and as we settled down to our second year at Brown, we realized that we were well on our way across the sea of learning. In this very busy junior year, our class was capably advised by Mr. Baane. We began the year's activities by holding a class meeting for the election of our officers. The previous year had proved to us that we had many capable leaders in our class, and with this in mind, the class chose Ronnie Glasson as its president. To serve under him and to assist him in his many duties were selected Eric McKnight, vice-president; Nancy Nelms, secretary; and Tommy Allen, treasurer. Along with these officers were our Council representatives, Shelia Argo and Dan Cagle. All of these leaders as well as our student government officers did much in aiding the class through government and service.

As the year progressed, our class projects were undertaken. Busily we sold magazines to finance the Junior-Senior, and rehearsed for the class play, "Tom Sawyer", with Eric McKnight and Johnny Barlow taking the leading roles. The seniors honored us with "Savonara", the Senior-Junior.

As in our saphamare year, the achievements of many students were recognized with various honors. Tapped into the National Honor Society from our class were Barbara Chapman, Saundra Logan, Tabie Barbee, Cynthia Fletcher, Margie Harrington, Carol Scarboro, Jahn Oehler, and Jack Hill. The Key Club accepted Jahn Oehler, Tommy Barringer, Rudy Ware, and Jack Hill into its ranks. For their achievement in the field of dramatics and for participation in various plays, Tommy Allen, Johnny Barlow, Larry Freeman, Sandra Miller, Tommy Overcash, Alice Roberts, and Linda Stiller were tapped into the Thespian Society.

As time passed, the Science Fair was held, and we were all kept busy planning the activities that were drawing near. Soon we received our class rings and displayed them with pride as final plans for the Washington trip were being made. Taking five buses, we left for Washington, and we returned after a fabulous week in our city of government: the never-to-be-forgotten Washington Trip 1958.

We found it a somewhat difficult task to settle down to the remaining weeks of school, but with time for exams nearing, we somehow managed. Under the supervision of Co-Chairmen Kaye Beaver and A. V. Franklin, plans were begun for the Junior-Senior, "Stairway to the Stars" was the theme selected, and with blue and white decorations adorning the social room, it became a star-studded event.

With the year drawing to a close, Student Government elections were held. The student body chose Eddie Tyson as its president, and Don Cagle was chosen vice-president. We were all kept busy planning for the Western District of North Carolina Student Councils Congress for which our school was to be host, and we were all proud when Don Cagle was elected president of the district.

For their past contributions to the school paper, Sallie Caudle and Becky Lee were selected Co-Editors of the Brown Highlights.

We elected our cheer-leading squad with Johnny Barlow, chief, and other rising seniors Margie Harrington, Martha Rutledge, Nancy Nelms, Don Slaughter, and George Barrier, were selected.

On the basis of scholastic achievement the commencement marshals were Barbara Chapman, Rita Noel, Sue Milburn, Jack Hill, Phyllis Brock, Doris Waller, Marlene Howard, Cynthia Fletcher, Johnny Gibson, Brenda Shaver, Eddie Tyson, Ray Blackwelder, and Carol Scarboro. With a bit of sadness we looked on as the class of '58 was ushered out, and we realized that our time was not too far off.

As we entered Brown for our last year we became aware of many things that we were seeing and doing for the last time. Upon our return we found many things different. The school was buzzing with workmen, hurrying to completion, the new wing; and we could see, across the way, the progress being made on the new W. J. Bullock Physical Education Building. For the last time we were united as a class, and with the help of Miss Gray, our advisor, we held our class elections. Eric McKnight was elected to serve as our president this final year, with Ronnie Glasson to serve as vice-president. Shelia Argo and Alan McKnight were chosen to hold the positions of secretary and treasurer, respectively. To complete our slate of officers for this busiest of years, we selected Beverly Maulden and Tommy Allen, to be our representatives in the Council; Phyllis Austin, chaplain; Saundra Logan, social chairman; and Jack Hill, historian.

We selected gold and white as our class colors and the white orchid as the flower. For our motto we selected "The will to do; the courage to dare". We elected our superlatives, and we chose; Kim Starnes and Barry Harkey for our mascots.

In the early part of the year, the Key Club accepted Larry Freeman, Tommy Allen, and George Barrier for membership.

From the beginning, the football games played an important role in the activities of many students, and this year seemed special, for the games were played in our new stadium. Leading our team to second place in the conference were our Co-Captains, Ronnie Hampton, Ronnie Glasson, and Marvin Query. A victorious game set off Homecoming weekend, and the season climaxed in a 13-0 victory over Concord, winning back for us the victory bell.

Reigning over Homecoming festivities was Margie Harrington, and representing us in the Carrousel Parade in Charlotte was Phyllis Austin as Miss Brown High. On the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and personality, Saundra Logan was elected "Miss Hi Miss".

As time passed, others of our class were honored in various ways. The Honor Society, Key Club, Quill and Scroll, and Thespian Society accepted new members. The year sped by, and before we realized, plans had been made for the senior class play, "The Match-Maker", and the juniors had honored us with the Junior-Senior. Then Senior Day had come and gone, and we realized that it was the last time our gaiety and frivolity would be shared.

From that day, a serious note sounded in our voices as we spoke of graduation. In pretended gaiety we attended rehearsals. Then as we attended the Baccalaureate Sermon, we realized what it was really all about.

We relived our history on Class Night, then we walked in cap and gown down the aisles graduation night to accept our long-awaited diplomas. We bade our classmates farewell, and we received the congratulations of parents and friends.

Looking back now, all these things became clear. We realize that these were our years, the three we spent at Brown. They prepared us for a life as useful citizens. Although the doors of high school have been closed, the doors of life stand open to us. We go our separate ways, but we shall remember these years.

Jack Hill, Historian

THE JUNIOR CLASS

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Bobby Hill, Vice-President; George Kiser, President; Phyllis Williams, Secretary; Jerry Dellinger, Treasurer.

The Junior Class began a busy year with the registration in the fall. The so-called school life "drudgery" was enlivened by events which every member of the class will long remember. During the fall, many a junior's home became mysteriously over-stocked with "The World's Finest Chocolate," and the door-to-door campaigns proved to each that he could be a good salesman, if he tried.

Students' time was not only spent on extra-curricular activities but on academic pursuits as well. This was reflected by the various honors and awards that the students received. In the field of sports, the juniors were also proud of their representatives, for several juniors made excellent records in football, basketball, etc.

After the drudgery of mid-term exams, came another task, writing a term paper. In February many a junior donned a costume and acted his way through the Junior Class Play, "Seventeen." In the spring things began to look brighter. In April all of the pastime of an average junior was spent talking about the annual trip to Washington. Also in the spring the arrival of the class rings caused a drastic change in the life of each junior.

With the coming of the Junior-Senior Prom, the juniors realized that there was just one more year before they would travel on the "road to success."

A sophomore, after his first look at Brown, feels he can never become an important part of such a fast-moving group. So many rooms, the flight of stairs, exams, registration—all are familiar to us now; but in the beginning, we were just "green sophomores."

This year has not passed without being eventful for many of the sophomores. Many boys have excelled in football, and both boys and girls have done much to help our basketball teams.

The sophomores also proved to be the best salesmen in the school with its class ranking highest in the chocolate sale. As the year passed and new acquaintances and friends were made, the halls, as well as the imposing number of students, have contributed to our longing for the old junior high.

We know now that we are an important part of Brown, and now we finally "belong."

The maids and janitors, Lucile Gibson, Essie Adams, Melvin Hopper, and James Brown, make a great contribution to the beauty of our school daily by keeping halls and classrooms immaculately clean.

We are deeply appreciative of these services that they render throughout the school year. Sometimes these efforts are frustrating and unappreciated, but we, speaking for the student body, publicly thank them for their sincere devotion to their job and the students of Brown High School.

Essie and Lucile

In the modern high school, the plan is to educate the whole student—not only in studies and in mental exercise but also by a well-rounded social life. At Brown High, participation in the many clubs, organizations, and honor groups will be revealed to you in the following pages.

CLUBS

ORGANIZATIONS

Pages 80-103

PARTICIPATION

Consisting of approximately one hundred and ten members, the A. L. Brown High School Band of Kannapolis is directed by Mr. Harvey Turner. Mr. Turner has certainly played a great part in winning wide-spread recognition for the band. During marching season, Jimmy Slaughter, the drum major, leads the band across the field. Next came the majorettes and sponsors. The talented majorettes add to the pep of the band as they strut in front. Also playing important roles are the sponsors whose lettered uniforms spell BROWN.

Needless to say, the Brown High Band contributes much to our school spirit at each football game. Besides being instrumental in the dedication of both the Memorial Stadium and the W. J. Bullack Gymnasium this year, the band has visited several other cities throughout North Carolina.

SPONSORS

Judy Hudson, Sylvia Hoce, Cookie Alexander, Myra Atkinson, Judy Turner.

President and Adviser discuss important documents.

The Student Government Organization of A. L. Brown High School is the means by which the student body aids directly in the administration of the school. It is the official organ for student expression in matters pertaining to the welfare of the student body. This organization is in charge of all dances and projects. Student Government representatives must pass all subjects and have a "B" on conduct.

Consisting of the governing bodies of the Student Council and Session House, the S. G. makes the directing of the school one both of students and teachers.

Mixed Chorus combined talent with practice

Larry Fowler, President; Jone Moore, Secretary-Treasurer; Miss Barbara Stallings, Director; Beverly Maulden, Pianist and Vice-President.

The Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Miss Barbara Stallings, is growing larger and better year by year. This group presents musical programs for many special events such as Thanksgiving and Christmas assembly programs, as well as the annual tour of the elementary schools, and visits to various civic clubs.

Each year the chorus is entered in the State Music Festival to be rated with school chorus groups from all over the state. For the past several years, the Mixed Chorus has maintained a rating of "excellent."

An honorary club for boys, the Key Club impresses initiative and leadership upon its members. Each year, the club has a "drive for clothing" to be given to the needy families at Christmas. Some of the Key Club's purposes are:

"To develop by precept and example a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship.

To provide a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service, and to build better communities.

To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism, and good will."

The Brown Highlights is published monthly by the members of the high school staff. The members write, edit, and compile all material. The four-column, ten-page paper consists of news, features, sports, and editorials. Before being eligible for staff, a student must have had one year of journalism in which his work has excelled. The co-editors are chosen by the journalism class and the present staff. Other specific editors are selected by the two co-editors and the advisor.

The Albrokan is the A. L. Brown High School annual. Prepared by two organizations, the business and editorial staffs work until February getting the annual prepared for publication. The business staff is in charge of obtaining advertisements while the editorial staff writes all copy, prepares pictures schedules, and organizes the journalistic portion.

The Quill and Scroll is a national honorary fraternity for those who are well-rounded in the field of journalism. The Josephus Daniels Chapter of A. L. Brown High School stresses initiative, originality and creativeness in writing, and outstanding work on the business staff of the Albrokan.

To become eligible for membership, those on the editorial staff must have a minimum of fifty inches in print in the Brown Highlights, have initiative in writing, be in the upper third of his class and give full cooperation in any way dealing with business or editorial matters.

Quill and Scroll stresses creativeness in writing.

Honor Society rewards outstanding students.

Tapped into the Alpha Chi Sigma Chapter of the National Honor Society annually are students who excel in character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The chief object of the society is to encourage the students of A. L. Brown High School to develop these four qualities. Seniors and juniors are inducted as full members, while sophomores are taken in on probation.

The Honor Society members present a special Thanksgiving program each year, after which they take fruit to aged people. Hence, they not only try to encourage others to develop character, scholarship, leadership, and service, but strive to exemplify these characteristics themselves.

OFFICERS

Carol Scarboro, Secretary; Jack Hill, President; John Oehler, Vice-President; Scott Trott, Treasurer.

Above is a scene from the musical "Seventeen" complete with orchestra. Pictured are Jim Slaughter and Judy Hudson.

The 1958-59 dramatics year of the Brown Mosquers brought plays of the highest calibre to Brown High School and the citizens of Konnopolis. The production of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar", "Seventeen", and the Corolino Dramo Association shows were the high spots of the year. Students interested in expressing themselves through dance donned leotards and were introduced to the exercises and routines of modern interpretive dance, colypso, folk dances, and the "old soft shoe". The application of make-up and the designing of costumes for the plays filled the year for the Brown Mosquers.

Thespians honor participants in dramatic arts

Scene from the production "Julius Caesar". This is an interpretive dance from Calpurnia's dream sequence.

The National Thespian Society is an honor group whose purpose is to promote the interest and participation in dramatic arts in the high schools in the nation. Membership is based on interest and participation in all phases of the theater. To be eligible, one must be active in the plays given by the Brown Masquers, know the art of applying must be active in the plays given by the settings, or designing the organization of the play. Membership is not on the basis of year in school, but on the interest displayed.

Miss McMurray, advisor, has helped members develop Christian ideals.

The principal aim of the Bible Club at Brown High is to develop spiritually the minds of any students who are interested in Christian ideals. Each member is urged to create a Christian attitude whether at work or play, at school, church, or at home. The club offers a study of the Bible through programs, songs, worship, and open discussion. Above all it offers Christian fellowship.

The Monogram Club consists of boys who have met the requirements for the monogram certificate in one of the four major sports at Brown, football, basketball, baseball, and track. The main purposes of the organizations are to provide recognition for athletes, encourage the practice of good sportsmanship and the ideals of fair play.

The club, under the leadership of Coach Ed Edmiston, serves such worthwhile purposes as cleaning gym floors and selling concessions at basketball games, and purchasing green and white monogram sweaters for senior members.

Girl's Athletic Association stresses sportsmanship

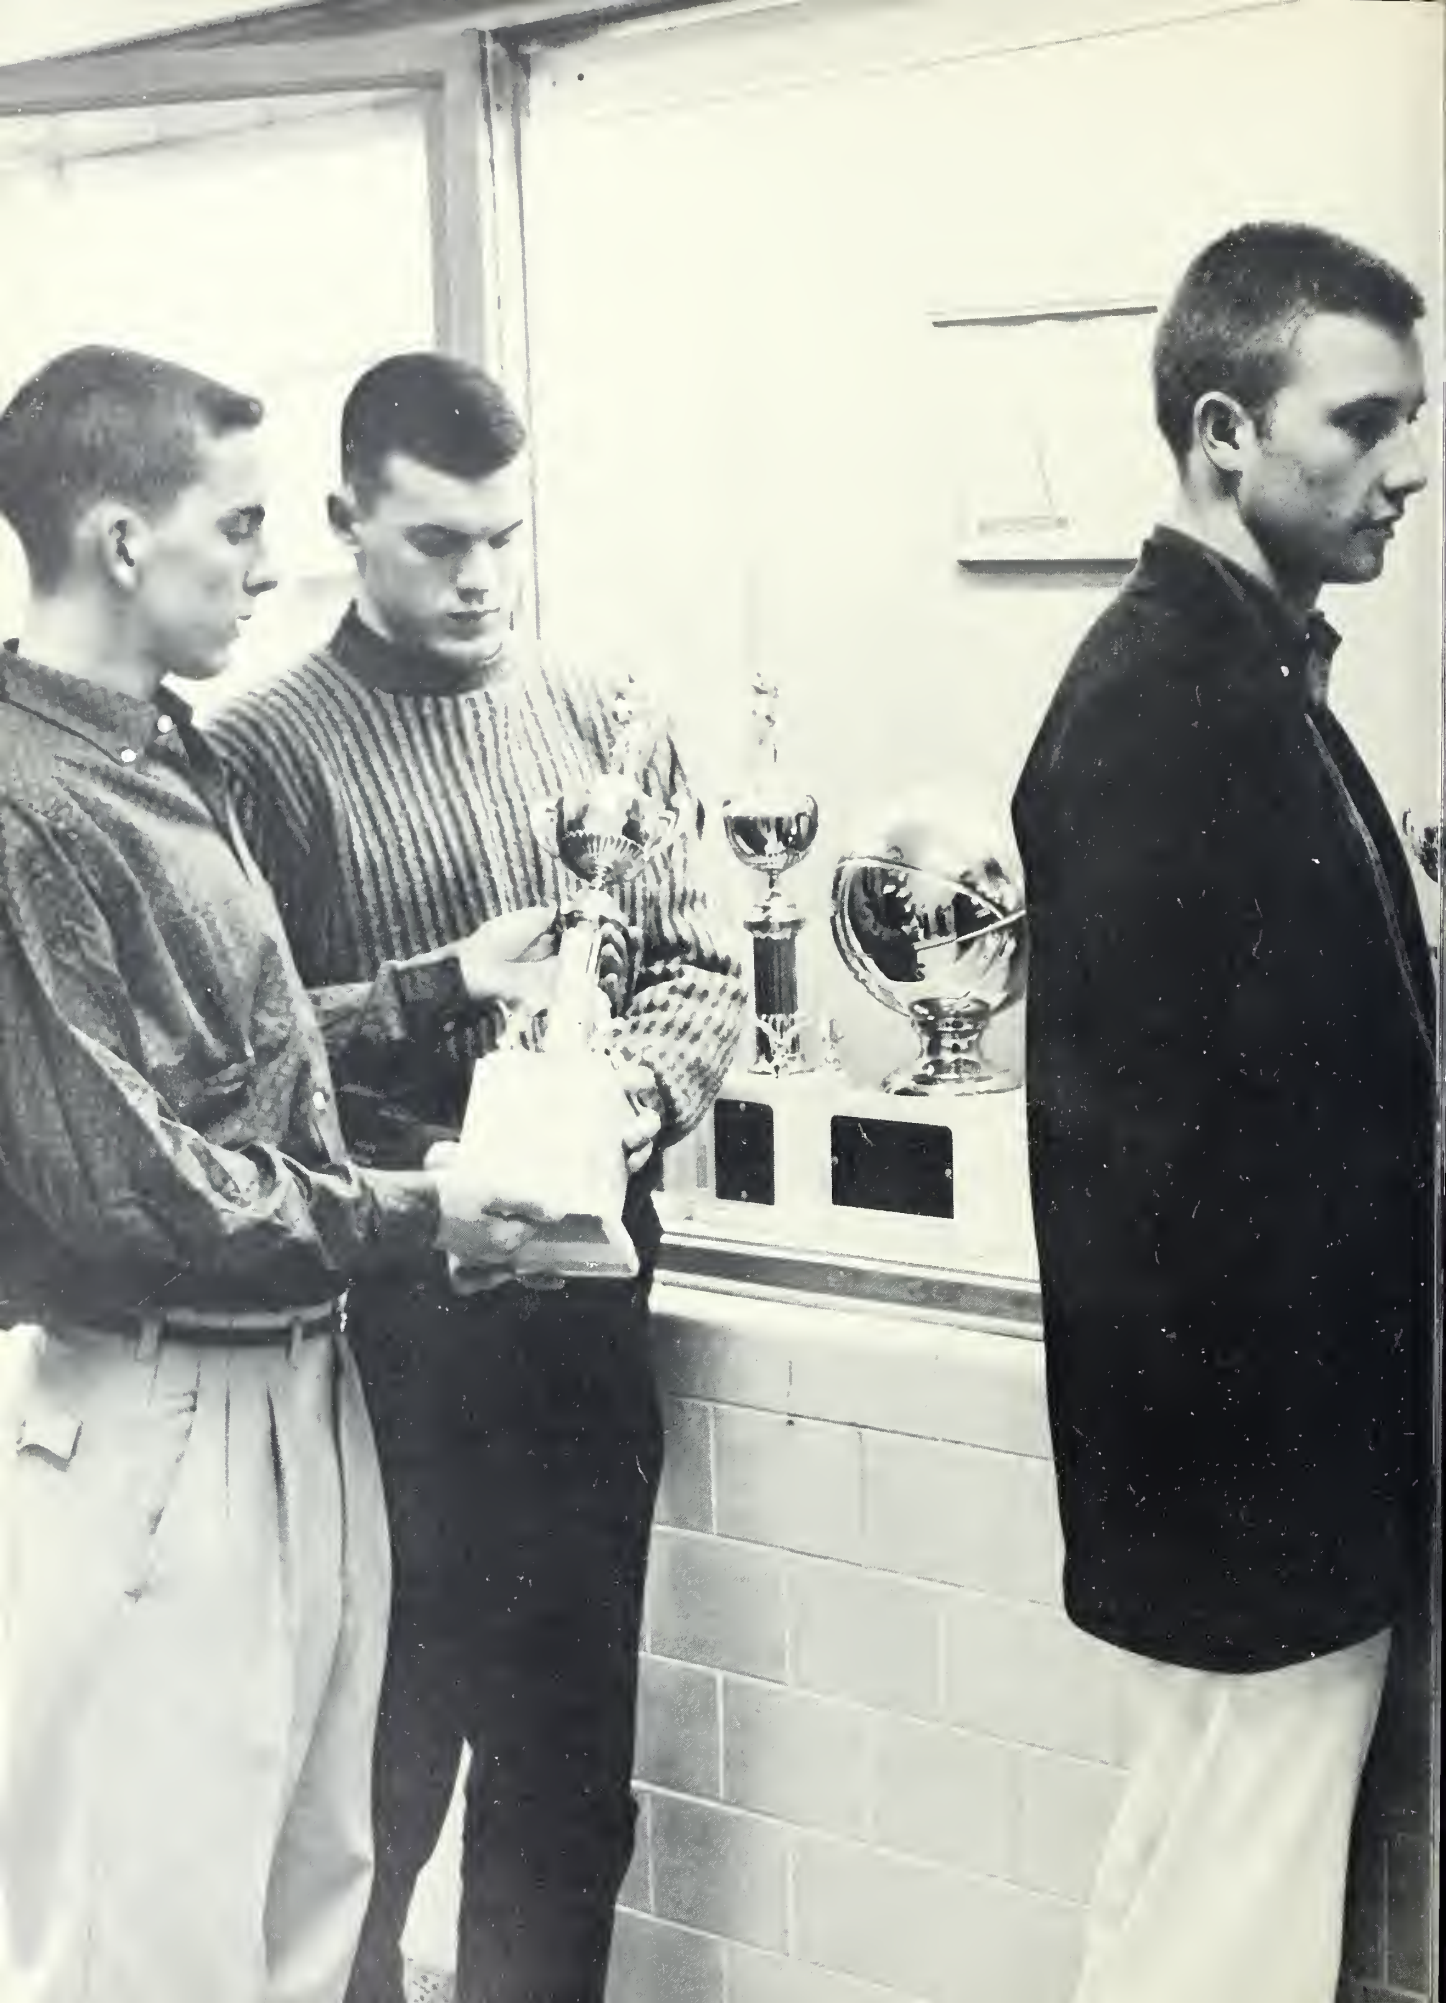

Members of the Girl's Athletic Association at Brown High School meet once a month. The main purpose of the club is to better acquaint those girls who are especially interested in sports with techniques of good sportsmanship, through special programs, speakers, and participation.

The girls attend various sports events in and around the community. The club's advisor, Mrs. Frye, strives to familiarize the members with sports which are uncommon in this region.

The group works and progresses during the year, looking forward to the climax, which is Play Day, held annually in Greensboro. On this day high schools throughout the state compete in various sports events.

OFFICERS: Rachel Cashian, Daris Waller, Linda Phillips

ANOTHER YEAR—and many exciting moments to be remembered during the various sports seasons. Among them, the first game in the long-awaited stadium—the thrill of hearing the Victory Bell ringing again in the possession of Brown High, and then we looked-forward-to the first performance of the Wonders and Wonderettes in the first game in a brand new gymnasium.

Coach gives co-captains pointers before game.

Co-captains, Ronnie Glosson, Ronny Hampton, and Marvin Query, each a key figure in the outstanding showmanship of the Little Wonders, were selected on the basis of their display of ability and performance. Under the expert guidance of coaches Ed Edmiston and Dan Hamrick, the co-captains were able to lead the team to a 6-3-1 record for the season.

Wander rebound sets up score.

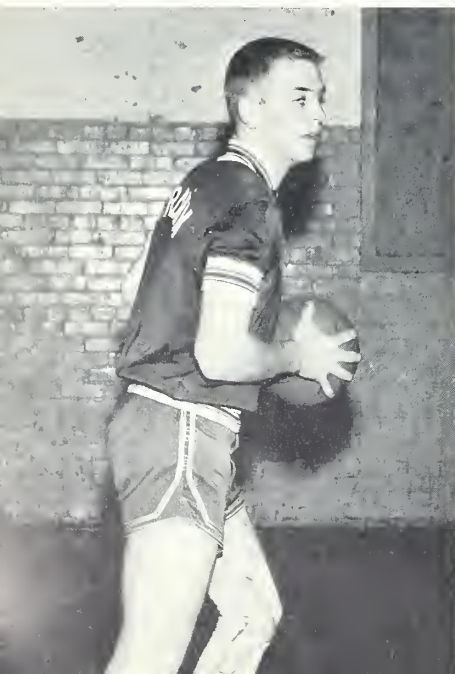

The Wonder's basketball team this season has really been a "Wonder team." Crippled by the graduation of all the regular players except Billy Cannon, the prospects seemed bleak at the beginning of the season, but through the expert guidance of Coach Hamrick, the rapid development of last year's reserves has brought the team to a tie for first place in the South Piedmont Conference as the Albrokan goes to press.

Coach and Captains plan for big game.

Lay-up adds two important points.

The 1958-59 Wonderettes won the first girl's championship in the history of the school. Due to the loss of conference high-scorer Brenda Thompson, Coach Edmiston had a definite challenge to rebuild a championship team. It seems at this writing that he is equal to the task, and the Wonderettes are now tied for first place in the South Piedmont Conference.
